

LAKE ST. CLAIR AND CONNECTING WATERS

Includes catches from the Detroit River (to Bar Point) and from the St. Clair River in 1923, 1941 and subsequent years. Canadian catches from the St. Clair River in other years have been included with Lake Huron because in many instances these could not be separated satisfactorily from those of the lake.

No fishing on a commercial license has been permitted in State of Michigan waters of Lake St. Clair since 1909. However, fishing under contract for "noxious fish" has produced significant quantities of carp and some channel catfish, which are included in the following tables.

Ontario has reported no commercial catch since 1970, when discovery of mercury contamination resulted in closure of the commercial fishery.
